

Appl. No. 10/090,916
Amendment and/or Response
Reply to Office action of 7 April 2005

Page 6 of 11

Abstract

An interface module for receiving television signals or radio signals has several inputs and outputs for receiving and distributing picture and sound signals as well as control signals and at least one input for antenna signals. The interface module includes at least one tuner and a chip with a microprocessor including memory and data capture capability, and is capable of picture, color and sound decoding and signal processing means. The chip and the tuner are installed in a common casing.